Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment— Defining Success

We will have succeeded when all strategic and program planning, program and project design, implementation and evaluation:

- Reflects awareness of the different roles, responsibilities, and expertise of women and men
- Engages women and men as full and equal partners

And when all of our development programming systematically and intentionally:

- Seeks to eliminate gaps between the status of males and females
- Leverages and enhances the unique expertise and leadership skills of women and girls
- Serves women and girls as effectively as men and boys
